There are Pattern employees on-site to maintain the wind turbines and perform preventive and corrective maintenance activities.

1.3 Supply Chains

Siemens Gamesa supplied the wind turbines installed at St. Joseph Wind and is the primary supplier of major electrical equipment and parts used to maintain the site.

St. Joseph Wind procures various goods and services for the site. Examples of goods procured include fuel for site trucks, equipment parts and rentals, and office supplies. Examples of services include equipment maintenance, printing, communications, irrigation, and environmental consultants.

2 POLICIES AND DUE DILIGENCE

2.1 Policies

St. Joseph Wind is committed to respecting fundamental human rights and demands its suppliers comply with all applicable laws, including but not limited to forced or compulsory labour and minimum age of labour. Suppliers must abide by applicable law through standard terms and conditions and contracts.

St. Joseph Wind's parent company, Pattern, incorporates internationally recognized human rights standards and industry best practices into its policies and practices, which apply to its employees, affiliates, and subsidiaries. Employees must abide by Pattern's Code of Business Conduct and Ethics and Anti-Corruption Policy. Pattern tracks adherence through questionnaires and a controls certification process.

Pattern's Human Rights Statement describes how the company and its subsidiaries support human rights and incorporate them into their practices, procedures, and systems. The statement summarizes the company's human rights management approach, including due diligence, stakeholder engagement and communications, governance, and grievance mechanisms.

Pattern respects workers' rights and has policies and systems to support its obligations and commitments to its workforce. Pattern prohibits modern slavery or human trafficking in its business activities, including any part of its supply chain. Pattern forbids involuntary or forced labour, including labour to be performed by children, bonded labour, indentured labour, and prison labour. Its background check process verifies the eligibility of all workers.

Pattern's Supplier Code of Conduct establishes the minimum standards its suppliers should meet related to ethical business practices and explicitly prohibits forced labour. Pattern references the Supplier Code of Conduct in its standard Terms and Conditions that apply to all manufacturers, distributors, vendors, contractors, and other suppliers who provide goods and services to Pattern and its subsidiaries, including St. Joseph Wind.

Suppliers shall not support or engage in slavery or human trafficking in any part of their supply chain. All work shall be voluntary, and employees shall be free to leave work at any time or terminate their employment without penalty if reasonable notice is given. A Supplier shall not, and shall ensure that its Partners do not, support or engage in, or require any compelled, involuntary, or forced labour, labour to be performed by children, bonded labour, indentured labour, and prison labour. Compelled, involuntary, or forced labour includes transporting, harboring, recruiting, transferring, or receiving persons by means of threat, force, coercion, abduction, or fraud for labour or services.

2.2 Due Diligence Processes

Pattern and St. Joseph Wind perform diligence on suppliers, including using LSEG's World Check system. Suppliers performing work deemed to be medium to high risk from a safety standpoint are further vetted through a subscription to ISNetworld. The ESG Assure feature of ISNetworld captures suppliers' responses to an ESG survey, which covers human rights topics.

3.1 Risk of Forced or Child Labour

St. Joseph Wind performed a mapping exercise on its suppliers and imported goods and believes forced or child labour in its supply chain is low risk.
